Underground service connections

* PCE will extend primary underground service up to a limit of 300 feet at no cost, under the following condition:

- The customer provides trenching and backfill to PCE specifications

* PCE will extend primary service beyond 300 feet under the following condition:

- The customer provides trenching and backfill to PCE specifications plus the cost of conductor beyond the 300 feet limit

Secondary Underground Services

Not available

Underground Service to Platted Subdivisions

* For new, platted subdivisions consisting of three or more contiguous lots, PCE will provide primary and secondary service connections at no cost to the Developer provided that the installation is in accordance with the preferred design of PCE, which normally will be front lot construction in the right-of-way or utility easement along lot lines accessible from the street, and further that secondary connections are not in back yards or other inaccessible areas, and terminate at a meter location on the side of the house in the front third of the structure. Developer is responsible for the installation of the required conduits to NESC, NEC, and City requirements. The free extension under this provision will be limited to 300 feet per lot for primary service and 200 feet per lot for secondary extensions. After developer sells home, ownership of the secondary cable will become the home owners. For installations where the preferred PCE design is not accepted by the Developer, service may be obtained under the provisions for Underground Service Connections as described above.

Overhead Service

* PCE will extend overhead primary and secondary service up to a distance of 300 feet at no charge. If rock holes are encountered, the customer will be billed at actual cost of holes.

* PCE will extend overhead primary and secondary beyond the 300 feet limit at a cost equal to actual cost of construction, including labor, equipment and materials.

Setting poles for customer use

* PCE will set secondary poles (meter or secondary riser) for customers at a cost of the pole plus two hours labor of two employees. If rock holes are encountered, the customer will assume the additional cost as well. The pole becomes the property of the customer, once set.

Security Lights

* PCE will install a security light at a customer's request as long as an existing pole accessible by bucket truck is available for the installation and future maintenance. The installation fee and monthly charge is set by ordinance.
